Dominion Grants Pay Boost

Workers Upped 11½ Cents

An 11½-cents-an-hour increase in wages was granted to 850 employes by the Dominion Electrical corporation late yesterday, following negotiations with three unions during the past two months.

The increase, announced by company officials, is retroactive to last July 1, the date the old contract expired. The increase will boost the Dominion payroll by $325,000 a year, officials said. The contract is for one year.

Company officials said eight cents of the increase is designed to meet the rising cost of living and the remainder is to compensate workers for six holidays. Employes were not paid for holidays under the old contract.

The unions, represented by committees of five members, included Local 39, International Polishers, Buffers, Platers and Helpers Union, A. F. of L., Local 453; International Association of Machinists (Tool and Die Makers and Local 1405, International Association of Machinists (Production and Maintenance Workers).

The top hourly wage, for members of the first union, totals $1.81½ an hour, for the second, $1.71½ an hour, and for the third, from $1.10½ to $1 75 an hour.

Lovers Face Prison Term

Abbott Slayers Found Guilty

HAMILTON—(INS)—Mrs. Marie Conn Abbott and her lover, Cyril "Scotty" Gordon faced long prison terms today for the mattock slaying of the woman's well-to-do Butler county farmer husband, Morris.

A Hamilton jury last night found the 40-year-old widow guilty of second degree murder, and judged her 27-year-old companion guilty of murder in the first degree.

The jury recommended mercy in Gordon's case, making a life sentence mandatory.

Earlier, Mrs. Abbott's attorney, William F. Hopkins created a courtroom sensation when he berated his client for her affair with Gordon. Hopkins asked that Mrs. Abbott be acquitted, but added:

"You have sacrificed your children and husband on the altar of passion and deceit. You have taken your children by hand right up to the steps of hell. You are morally guilty but not legally guilty."

The state asked the death penalty for both Mrs. Abbott and Gordon.

Ted Weiss, Gordon's attorney asked for a verdict of manslaughter on the grounds that the killing was not premeditated, and that it happened during the heat of an argument. He said:

"Gordon does not deny that he killed Abbott; does not justify the act; does not claim that he did not do wrong"

Delay Reward Payment

The $5,000 Niebel murder reward offered by Richland county commissioners won't be paid until the accused slayer is convicted, commissioners said today.

The commissioners offered the reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer or slayers of John E. Niebel, Mansfield reformatory farm superintendent; his wife, and daughter, Phyllis, July 21.

Robrt Murl Daniels, one of two former reformatory inmates who staged a two-week crime wave in Ohio, is held in Richland county jail for trial on charges of slaying the Niebels.

Commissioners said they still haven't nominated any one for the reward. Chairman John W. Selby of the board said, however, that it is his personal opinion that the reward should go to Mrs. James Smith, widow of the Tiffin farmer, who was shot and killed by John C. West, Daniels' companion. West later was shot fatally in a gun battle with officers.

Mrs. Smith has been nominated by The News-Journal to receive the $250 reward offered by the newspaper for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayers.

The Richland county grand jury has been summoned into session Monday to consider Daniel's case. Prosecutor Theodore Lutz said he would ask three murder indictments for the slaying of the Niebels.

If Daniels is convicted and sentenced to die in the electric chair, he will be the first to receive a death sentence from Richland county since 1933.

That year Chester Probaski and Merrill E. Chandler were sent to the chair for slaying Frank B. Hanger, a guard at the reformatory. Both men were inmates at the institution.

4th In Niebel Family Dies

Death yesterday claimed Raymond N. Niebel, brother of John E. Niebel, who with his wife and daughter were brutally slain by kill-crazy Robert Murl Daniels and John C. West July 21.

Raymond Niebel, 54, died last night at his home near Grafton, O., where he had been superintendent of the Grafton Prison farm for the last two and one-half years.

Niebel had been ill for the last three months and was unable to come to Mansfield last week to attend the triple funeral services here for thes slain members of the Niebel family.

KNEW OF TRAGEDY

He had been told of the tragedy, however, and members of his family said that the shock of the Mansfield slayings may have been a contributing factor in his death

The Grafton farm superintendent had served in a subordinate capacity at the Grafton farm for four and one-half years before he became superintendent and had served in official capacities in Ohio penal institutions for a total of 28 years.

He was born in Knox county March 11, 1894, and was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his wife, Rose; two stepsons, Ivan and Jack Thunderburg, both in California; two brothers, David in Mansfield and Hugh in Utica, N. Y.; and two sisters, Mrs. Elsie Quick of Centerburg, O., and Mrs. Inez Harris, Martinsburg, O.

The body is at the Russell D. Fulton funeral home in Grafton and will be taken Monday to the Dowd funeral home in Mt. Vernon, where services will be conducted at 1 p. m. (EST) Monday. Burial is to be at Homer, in Knox county.

Bets Are Placed By Phone

Reporter Gains Easy Entrance

Professional gamblers here have parlayed an unoccupied flat and the apparent unconcern of local police into a new, wide-open horse race betting establishment.

The new bookie joint is located at 186½ North Main street, over the Lucky poolroom.

Another horse race bet parlor, operated at 12½ South Main street, was closed under mysterious circumstances Monday. Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab said: "I don't know anything about it."

The new flourishing gambling den is not exclusive. No character gives you the once-over when you try to get in. In fact, the door is wide open.

A News-Journal reporter climbed the two flights of steps leading into the second-story "club" yesterday. He found the entire flat unfurnished except for a special desk where the bookies took bets and one other table where gamblers pored over a couple of racing forms.

As many as 20 horse players were in the joint at a time with the crowd changing frequently.

From all appearances, this new establishment isn't even up to standard bookie operations. There is no direct racing wire and bettors aren't even given bet receipts. Hardly a practice that might increase patronage among "select clientele."

BET BY PHONE

Despite the obvious shortcomings, the operators have little difficulty filling their establishment with betting patrons. Bets are placed with an operator at a telephone who, in turn, relays it to someone else.

Race results come over the phone and payoffs are on the spot. Apparently you have to be present to get paid. Or perhaps a "friend" of the management.

All wagers are made by initials. A typical bet might sound something like this: "Put two bucks on Hurricane in the third at Monmouth to win for G.X.."

Perhaps the most "useful" feature of the joint to players and operators is an extra-wide fire escape running down the back of the building. In the event of a raid, this escape passageway could possibly accommodate five persons abreast.

There is every indication that this latest bookie parlor is brand new. One short, squat, character addressed as "Frank," gripped by the so-called "racing fever," complained openly: "If I knew this joint was going to open today, I'd have brought more dough."

However welcome the establishment is to betting patrons, neighbors don't share the same enthusiasm. As one indignant woman remarked yesterday, "The bookie's back and we don't want him."

Given Life Term For Burning Child

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Walter (Shorty) Benson, 52, Carrollton, Ky., faced a life sentence in Ohio penitentiary today following his conviction in the fatal burning of two-year-old George Cannon jr., of Cincinnati.

A criminal court jury found Benson guilty of first degree murder yesterday, but recommended mercy, saving him from the electric chair.

ANOTHER BOOKIE OPENS—Latest horse race betting establishment to open in Mansfield is located at 186½ North Main street. Lower arrow indicates entrance. Entire top floor (marked by arrow) is devoted to bookie operations.

'Will Investigate' Again

Two More Crossing Crashes Averted

Quick action by a Yellow Stripe Bus driver and a matter of seconds today averted two possible fatal accidents at the East Fourth street Pennsylvania railroad crossing.

Despite promises from railroad officials that "proper corrective action would be taken," the bus and a pasenger car were nearly struck by speeding trains as they roared through the crossing with the safety gates up, early this morning.

Today's near-mishaps brings to six the total of averted tragedies during the last month at the Pennsylvania crossing because the safety gates were not lowered when a train was approaching.

At 5:57 a.m. today R. G. Buzzard, Yellow Stripe bus driver, started to cross the tracks after stopping and checking for oncoming trains in both directions. Buzzard told police that after he had started over the tracks he heard a diesel engine whistle, slammed the gears into reverse and managed to back off the tracks just as the train came by. Company officials would not disclose how many passengers were in the bus

By the time police arrived on the scene, the towerman, Joseph Boggs, who was on duty at the time had been relieved and he could not be located for questioning.

ANOTHER INVESTIGATION

C. H. Koozer, track supervisor said that he planned an investigation of the near-mishap and that he would question Boggs late today.

Earlier in the morning, at 1.48 a m, Mrs. Cleo Grice, Ashland road, reported to police that she drove over the crossing while the safety gates were up, and just missed being struck by a speeding passenger train that passed just as she crossed the tracks.

Police contacted Boggs, who was on duty at the time and he said he was fixing a bell and did not hear the train coming.

The first two narrow escapes at the East Fourth street crossing occurred on July 4. On July 12 police were called to the crossing when a Westinghouse policeman noted that the gates were not being lowered when the trains passed. Police arrived just in time to halt a car headed for the crossing as a train came in.

On the following day, three Mansfielders narrowly escaped death when they were trapped inside the safety gate as a passenger train sped by. The gate was lowered after they moved into the crossing, they declared.

Tildy's Son Called Spy

BUDAPEST —(INS)— Hungary's communist police charged today that Victor Czornoky, son-in-law of resigned President Zoltan Tildy, gave "confidential information" to United States and British representatives.

The police said that they had written evidence that Czornoky had attempted to arrange Tildy's escape from Hungary with a "U. S. Air Force general'

Tildy resigned the presidency of Hungary yesterday following Czornoky's arrest.

Observers viewed Tildy's resignation and the arrest of Czornoky, former Hungarian minister to Egypt, as part of a Soviet drive to consolidate control of Hungary.

Pilots to Fly for Speed, Efficiency

25 Planes to Race Here Sunday

An entry list of 20 to 25 planes in various classes are expected to compete Sunday in the Mansfield cross-country efficiency air races scheduled to begin at 12.55 p m. Sunday at Municipal airport.

The races, to be conducted in conjunction with an accuracy landing contest for pilots, are being sponsored by Richland Aviation.

A. Clayton Tschantz, Richland Aviation general manager, said that the number of classes of airplanes to be entered in the efficiency race will be determined by the number of entries, four planes of identical make and horsepower being required to form a class.

The race will be over a 110-mile course to be disclosed in a "briefing" just before take-off. The winner in each class is to be determined on a basis of elapsed time and amount of gasoline consumed in the flight.

In addition to the races and landing contest, there are to be exhibitions of formation flying by army reserve planes at 1:30 p. m and a similar show by naval planes from Columbus at 2 p. m.

A demonstration of model plane flying, which is to include jet models and "aerobatic" flights, also is scheduled for the afternoon's program, Tschantz said

Invitation have been sent to fliers in many other Ohio cities and sponsors are expecting that the races will be hotly contested, especially so if weather is suitable for bringing visiting planes here.

Allies Hit At Crisis In Berlin

Open Action In Moscow

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States, Britain and France have taken a "preliminary step" in Moscow toward renewing their demand for an end to the Berlin crisis.

Disclosing this, the state department said today that the American and French ambassadors and British representatives had called separately on Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin at the Soviet foreign office last night.

The western envoys are armed with new instructions to seek a settlement at Berlin and leave open a way for general negotiations with Russia

The Western Allies previously had been told that Foreign Minister Molotov was on "vacation." They were referred to Zorin as the next ranking official.

From today's announcement it is evident that they did not take up with Zorin the western powers' demands or discuss any major business. What they did do was not disclosed here, but the state department described it as a "preliminary step."

Press official Michael J. McDermott said that American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith saw Zorin at 6 o'clock, Moscow time. French Ambassador Yves Chataigneau called on him one hour later. At 10 o'clock, Foreign Secretary Bevin's special representative, Frank Roberts, and the ranking staff diplomat at the Britisn embassy in Moscow, Charge d'Affaires Harrison, conferred with Zorin.

McDermott declared that he could not say what was the nature of the preliminary step nor "what it is we're asking for"

CIO Leaders Defy Herbert

Plans New Action In Univis Strike

DAYTON—(AP)—CIO unionists, defying Gov. Thomas J Herbert to call out national guardsmen, today went ahead with plans to stage another mass meeting Monday outside the Univis Lens company plant.

Herbert, making an on-the-scene attempt to solve the violence-torn strike by CIO Electrical Workers, warned he would call out the troops unless assured there would be no demonstration. The plant normally is closed week ends.

"I came here to assure there would be peace in the plant area," Herbert told union leaders. "What it takes to do that will be there. I am giving you people an opportunity to avoid meeting force. The responsibility is yours."

Street fighting broke out yesterday between pickets and nonstrikers when the CIO council called the first meeting to protest what it described as "police brutality." More than 120 police were on hand to escort nonstrikers into the plant. Officers broke up the melee with tear gas. Estimates of the crowd outside the plant ranged from 6,000 to 16,000.

It marked the fifth day in a row that several hundred employes returned to work under police protection. The company was struck 87 days ago in a wage dispute.

U. S. Grabs For Victory In Olympics

Athletes Forge Ahead of Rivals

LONDON — (AP) — America's crack trackmen and swimmers broke into the winning circle today, scoring four final victories in the second full day of the 14th Olympic games.

Harrison Dillard, great hurdler and sprinter, atoned for his failure to make the hurdling squad, by winning the Olympic gold medal in the 100-meter sprint in the Olympic record-equalling time of 10.3 seconds.

Roy Cochran of the Los Angeles Athletic club, gave the American spectators in the huge 84,000 throng at Wembley stadium, their first big occasion to cheer when he won the 400 meter hurdles just before Dillard captured the metric century. The former Indiana university star led from the first hurdle and was given a tremendous ovation as he won by five yards in the Olympic record-breaking time of 51 1 seconds.

In the Empire poolhouse, the Stars and Stripes was hoisted to mark a U S. sweep in the springboard diving competition, won by Bruce Harlan of Ohio State.

Then Wally Ris, brilliant free-style artist from the University of Iowa, splashed to victory in the 100 meter sprint in Olympic record time of 57 3 seconds. Alan Ford of Yale finished second in 57 8 and Keith Carter of Purdue U. was fourth behind Hungary's Geza Kadas.

Shut out of the gold medals in competition yesterday, the red, white and blue forces went to town today

Besides the four firsts, the U.S. copped numerous points with seconds, thirds, and fourths.

In the 100 meter track dash, Barney Ewell, 30-year old former Penn State speedster from Lancaster, Pa, closed with a terrific burst that almost caught Dillard Lloyd Labeach, American-trained sprinter from Panama was third, Alan McCorquodale of Britain was a surprising fourth and Mel Patton, the favorite from Southern California was a disappointing fifth

Gets Tired Of Burning Money, Quits

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The man responsible for burning more money than anybody in history is quitting it for good today.

He is Benton C. Gardner, retiring after long service as chief of the treasury's currency redemption division.

During that time, he's sent so many billions up in smoke no complete tally is available.

Reveals Spy Ring Leaders

Woman Bares Wartime Leaks

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Lauchlin Currie, administrative assistant to the late President Roosevelt, was identified today as the individual who provided the wartime Soviet spy ring with information that the United States had broken the secret Russian code.

The identification was made by Elizabeth Bentley, self-confessed head of the spy ring, in sworn testimony before the House un-American Activities committee today.

Miss Bentley, whose story to the Federal Bureau of Investigation is credited with resulting in the grand jury indictments of 12 top American communists, testified that Currie also provided her spy ring with secret wartime information pertaining to China.

Lauchlin Currie

Currie served under the late President from June 12, 1939 to June 30, 1945. The White House said he was "separated" from the government on the latter date. The Bentley woman said that Currie was not a communist, but that he did supply her with the two pieces of information. She told the Senate investimating committee yesterday Moscow became "very excited" when it learned the code had been broken.

Miss Bentley also told the House committee that Harry D. White was associated with her group while he was assistant secretary of the treasury.

White subsequently left the treasury department to become U. S xecutive director of the international monetary fund, a position he resigned on June 1, 1947, to enter private business.

NAMES TOP SPY

Miss Bentley said the head of the communist spy group in Washing was Nathon Gregory Silvermaster, a former treasury official

She said Silvermaster was a member of the Communist party and an agent of NKVD—The Russian secret police.

Among other members of the group working with Silvermaster, Miss Bentley named William Ullman, Solomon Adler, William Taylor, and White.

Asked if White was a communist, Miss Bentley said:

"I don't know if he was a card-carrying communist, but he extended cooperation to the group. He gave information to Silvermaster."

Miss Bentley said Silvermaster, as head of the Washington spy group, paid communist party dues for all of the members.

Information which was supplied from various sources to Silvermaster was collected by Miss Bentley on her regular trips to Washington, and taken back to communist headquarters in New York.

She said her first contact with Silvermaster was made after she was told that Earl Browder, former head of the American communist party, supplied his name as that of a man who could be contacted for information in Washington.

Miss Bentley said that Solomon Adler worked with the group, but that she never met him because he was in China most of the time covered by her activities.

Robert Stripling, committee counsel, said that Adler is still employed in the treasury department in the office of international finance

The novel ends with Robert off to Edinburgh and the world of fashion.

ANNIE JORDAN, by Mary Brinker Post, opens with the Great Fire, in Seattle in 1889. Teenager's Sharp Tongue May Be the Parent's Fault

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

SEVERAL times in this column I have deplored the castigating of a child by a parent's ugly tongue, and have entreated parents never to indulge in such ugly practice. Also some parents are lashed by a poisoned tongue of a child, typically a teen-ager.

When a parent writes about such a child, I always would like to know whether the parent has been the first offender, whether she always guards her own tongue and controls her own emotions. But not all fiery-tongued children have fiery-tongued parents. Some such children have the gentlest and most lovely parents.

Child's Whims.

Such evil ways of a child can grow out of a parent's being too eager to satisfy all the child's whims and wishes, too eager to explain and reexplain when you are sure the child already knows the explanation, and too ready to feel hurt at his ugliness or be frightened at it. Some gentle parents are so ready to tremble with fear when the child has his wishes thwarted by them that they will succumb to almost anything he demands of them. One mother writes:

"I'm extremely worried about my daughter, thirteen. She is extravagant with her 75 cents weekly allowance and very demanding and critical of everything. Nothing seems good enough for her. She is not happy with what she has, although her home life is above average.

Vicious Habit.

"What worries me most is her ugly, nasty talk directed to me. I never have a moment's peace in her presence as she is constantly berating me. This is a vicious habit and I've tried so hard to reason with her. As it has been three years since my divorce from her father, I feel that surely she has made the adjustment by now.

"Her grandparents have a lovely home and she goes there constantly, staying for meals, calling me up and simply telling me she is staying. If I object, she argues and calls me names. I do not want her to talk to me like that. She even says she does not want me for a mother and that she hates me."

In part, this is what I answered: From your letter I am not able to ascertain how well you can master your own angers when this daughter grows demanding and abusive, how unemotionally you can reason with her when she argues with you, how much her behavior toward you is related to your divorce and her relations to and memories of her father; nor how well you yourself have become adapted to the separation from your husband, and all that the divorce involved.

Wins Her Way.

But is pretty clear that she wins her way after arguing with you; that she knows she hurts you terribly and that you readily reveal your fear of her ugly ways and words. Carefully think through what you can and should allow her to do or require of her, stating your reasons once in the fewest possible words, without emotional heat. Then refuse to talk back to her.

Easter Program Inspired It

All-Day Picnic Staged For 125 Children

By NITA BRANSON

Last Easter Guy Kent, member of the First Methodist church, sat and watched the small tots of the church present an interesting program of songs, skits and recitations.

Kent was impressed, not only with the program but with the work which he decided must have gone into the preparation.

"Those youngsters," he mused "are always giving us programs. Why can't we do something special for them?"

He thought about the idea for several months. Then he remembered that he had a birthday last Thursday. What better time to treat the youngsters of the church than on his own birthday when he could have a big birthday cake with all the trimmings?

So he planned an all-day picnic and party at Liberty park. With the cooperation of Miss Hazel Hockett, member of the City Recreation department, and Paul Snyder, manager of the Liberty pool, he arranged swimming, relay races, a softball game for the boys and plenty of food for all the youngsters.

HIRED A BUS

Kent hired a bus from the Mansfield Rapid Transit company to take the youngsters from the church to the park.

"I thought while I was doing it," Kent said, "I might as well include the youngsters from the Children's Home." So 50 small and intermediate age Home children joined 75 from the First Methodist church within those age ranges and were driven out to Liberty park for the day.

Most of the children went swimming, many of them having received instruction through the Red Cross swimming course this summer. Others played on the park equipment or enjoyed games and contests. Bubble gum was the award for winners.

At noon the children ate their poke lunches, brought from home for the occasion and in the middle of the afternoon shared with Kent his big birthday cake, ice cream and all the pop they could drink.

"By 3 p. m. they were so full," Kent said, "they could scarcely walk. It was a big day both for me and I guess for the youngsters. It was an occasion that I hope to make an annual event."

The body was taken to the Bollinger funeral home pending arrangements.

Dewey Aided By Stassen

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn. —(UP) — Harold E. Stassen, the University of Pennsylvania's newly-appointed president, today listed eight states where he will campaign for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and other GOP nominees.

In accepting the university post, Stassen notified the school's trustees he would fill his campaign speaking engagement before assuming his new duties.

He announced he will speak in Minnesota, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Montana, Colorado, West Virginia, Wyoming and New Mexico. If necessary, he will carry his campaign into other areas anticipating close senatorial races, he said.

Stassen, who promised support to Dewey after a strenuous campaign for the presidential nomination himself, said he would support all Republican nominees in his home state and throughout the nation.

U. S. Supports Farm Prices In Midst of Inflation Fight

By OVID A. MARTIN
(AP Farm Reporter)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government finds itself fighting on two apparently opposing sides of the price struggle today.

One agency — the agriculture department — is battling to prevent further declines in the prices of some farm commodities.

Another—the White House—is urging Congress to grant the government authority to control prices in order to keep the cost of living from going higher.

On Monday, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan urged farmers to hold back on farms more of this year's big wheat crop. He said heavy marketings are having the effect of lowering prices received by farmers.

On Tuesday, President Truman, in a message to the special session, asked, among other things, for power to control prices and to ration scarce items.

Agriculture department officials told a reporter, however, that this situation does not necessarily represent any conflict.

Brannan's action was taken to help carry out a farm price support law. Early in the war, Congress, by a bi-partisan vote, passed a measure requiring the government to support prices of most farm products at not less than 90 per cent of parity until Dec. 31, 1948. The present Republican-controlled Congress extended this law, with some revisions, for another year.

Parity is a legal standard for measuring farm prices. This standard is declared by law to be equally fair to the farmer and those who buy his products.

WHEAT PRICES DROP

In recent weeks, wheat prices have dropped to, and in some markets below, the 90 per cent support level. Even heavy government buying for export and farm storage of grain under a government loan program failed to hold a floor under prices at levels dictated by law.

Thus Brannan was said to have felt that if farmers sold wheat from this year's bumper crop a little more slowly, prices would tend to hold closer to the required support level.

The agriculture department is buying potatoes now to keep them from dropping below a similar support level.

Aides of Brannan said the department's price-support activities are not necessarily at odds with Mr. Truman's anti-inflation program.

They said that if prices of other food and industrial products had followed the course of wheat during the past six months, the cost of living would be materially lower. Wheat reached a post-war peak of $2.81 a bushel average at the farm last January. Now it is down to $2 or slightly less.

This is a decline of nearly 30 per cent in wheat prices. In comparison, the cost of living, as measured by the bureau of labor statistics, has advanced 4.1 per cent since last November.

Wheat is about 75 cents a bushel cheaper now than it was last November. Mr. Truman has suggested that prices of essentials be rolled back to the level existing then.

While wheat is considerably below the prices of last November, many other farm products are above, including beef cattle, lambs, poultry, cotton, rice, soybeans, peanuts, potatoes, toacco, and wool.

Products now bringing farmers less than last November include hogs, butterfat, eggs, corn, flaxseed, fluid milk, apples, dry beans and turkeys.

The price-support law is based on the argument that farmers should be protected against too sharp a break in their prices in return for carrying out a program of above-normal production.

It also is based on the theory that the government should attempt to maintain a balance between farm prices, industrial prices and wages, and that changes in any one should be matched by similar changes in the others.

Gigantic Plane Armada Roars Over New York

City's Super Airport Dedicated Today

NEW YORK — Today, 1,000 Air Force planes, the largest concentration of craft ever assembled in the air over the United States, roared over New York International Airport, nee Idlewild, in a spectacular aerial salute.

The occasion is the dedication of the world's largest commercial air field and the ceremonies are being viewed by almost a quarter of a million spectators, among them President Truman and Governor Dewey.

This great construction job, begun by New York City in 1942, has been brought to its first stage of realizations.

Although six years of work remain before Idlewild is completed, even at this stage it is a whale of an airport and a pilot's dream.

It was opened unofficially early in July after six years of excavating, draining, grading and laying of miles of water and power lines. At present six runaways, the longest 9,600 feet, are operating, and upon completition of the seventh there will be ten miles of "track."

Statisticans who delight in "Now, if you lay it end to end" calculations have estimated that Idlewild would fit comfortably into Manhattan island if you leveled all buildings from Times Square to the tip of the Battery.

That is about nine times the size of La Guardia Field, and its final cost, $200,000,000 would have paid for Oregon's Bonneville Dam, the San Francisco Golden Gate bridge and New York City's Lincoln tunnel. And there still would be $5,000,000 left to play with.

When it is completed, this colossus, only 13 miles from Times Square, will average two flights a minute, or 3,000 a day, taking off and landing and will have the world's most luxurious terminal.

At present Idlewild has only two hangers and small administration buildings for temporary use.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and consider whether you can afford a new car before you discard the old one.

Hint to those who have neglected to anticipate next winter's fuel needs—Chicago has just accepted delivery of 50 snowplows.

One middle-aged observer of modern trends longs for the good old days, "when you could have the time of your life in one evening with a one-dollar bill."

Filibuster Wastes Valuable Time

THAT "AUGUST" BODY, the United States Senate, appears at its worst when intended action is stymied by what is called a filibuster, a time-wasting maneuver by which a small minority of members seeks to defeat majority intent by long-drawnout speeches designed to prevent a vote on the measure being considered.

Such a situation developed in the Senate Thursday when the anti-poll tax bill, which affects only a few southern states, was brought up for discussion. Filibuster tactics were immediately adopted by senators representing the spirit of the Deep South, and the battle against President Truman's civil rights recommendation was on.

An unfortunate phase of the present filibustering effort is that it was apparently deliberately induced by placing such a highly controversial measure at the head of the list—with a time-killing filibuster plainly foreseen.

It is really the subject of high prices, and a statesmanlike attempt to curb inflation, that had best be engaging the sober thought of both the upper and lower houses of Congress, and unless thoughts of senators and representatives can be turned in that direction quickly the likelihood of any good coming from this special session seems remote indeed.

Stassen to Be University President

THAT WORD, "President," seems to have a peculiar appeal to Harold E. Stassen, former youthful governor of Minnesota, and recently aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination.

Now he has announced acceptance of nomination to the responsible post of president of the University of Pennsylvania, with formal election to that position scheduled for a special meeting of the university's executive board to be held in September.

In expressing willingness to take this position, Stassen made it clear that he planned to continue "a vigorous interest in public questions, particularly those which affect the future freedom, well-being and peace of men."

Stassen, at 41, has an outstanding record of achievements, and—should Fate so decree—another eight, twelve or sixteen years will not bring him to an age that need block him from presidency of the United States, in the event of a turn of favor in his direction.

How to Offset One Price Increase

PRICE INCREASE of cigarets, just announced, is one of the more bearable sort—and one that need not disturb the family budget . . . in fact the price raise can be made to effect a saving if cigaret users feel so inclined.

All that is needed is for cigaret smokers to cut down on the number of cigarets consumed in 24 hours, so as to balance the price increase—or, even better, reduce the total by one half, and thus save money—even at the higher price.

Of course there will be at least a few who will be sufficiently annoyed by the price increase to stop smoking them entirely for awhile—in fact some of the women cigaret smokers have already announced such intention . . . but will they be able to do so? It's quite a habit to break, you know.

Great Name In Baseball Annals

ALTHOUGH he was a great shortstop of the days long before radio came to make its contribution to the fame of baseball players, Joe Tinker of the Chicago Cubs was part of a team within a team, the glory of whose exploits needed no radio magic to aid its spread. When he died the other day, at 68, he was still remembered well.

They didn't invent the double play, but Tinker at short, Evers at second base and Chance at first made their names synonymous with the play. The phrase once so familiar to baseball writers—"Tinker to Evers to Chance"—has become a part of the idiom of the American language. It connotes the combination of high skill and precise timing.

Modern teams and individual players may rise to great heights, but you'll never convince an old-timer that any combination today can exploit the double play as did Tinker and Evers and Chance.

Eire To Share In Marshall Plan

THE REPUBLIC OF EIRE is to be a beneficiary of the European Recovery Program. This is the result of the unanimous approval of its representative body, the Dail Eireann, of the agreements signed in Paris and more recently in Dublin.

Instead of depending wholly on England for the bolstering up of its economy, Eire will henceforth consider the United States to be a source of aid. Sean MacBride, minister of external affairs, declares that the present shaky financial condition is due to inability to get dollars for the pounds Eire has on deposit in England, and also, in part, to the division of Ireland.

This statement called forth the retort from Northern Ireland spokesmen that Eire was beginning to realize her mistake in having cut loose from England.

Northern Ireland and Eire are held apart by barriers which were built on differing beliefs and allegiances. Eire continues to dream of embracing Northern Ireland, but the northern Irish wait patiently for the southerners to return to the British fold.

Now comes complaint from a Connecticut housewife that a helicopter dusting a tobacco field nearby sprinkles insecticide on steaks in her outdoor barbecue—which presents another picnic hazard.

A new car each year is included in the alimony award to the divorced wife of a Milwaukee automobile dealer—but does she have to take her turn in awaiting delivery?

Trend of the times is evidenced by a classified ad in a Brooklyn paper: "Wanted, Bartender who can service television set."

Passing around: Uncle, to small nephew, "Do you have a dime bank?" Answer by small nephew, "No, but I have a billfold."

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Dewey's Campaign Strategy Evolving

CANDIDATE Dewey will probably take only an advisory role in the strategy of this session of Congress. He has his own problem at the moment; that is to plan the kind of campaign he will conduct after Congress adjourns. Moreover, he believes that not until he has, as President, a constitutional duty to offer leadership to Congress should he work closely with Taft, Martin and other leaders.

Dewey participated only behind the scenes in the activities of the Eightieth Congress. He favored tax reductions and the Taft-Hartley Act as finally adopted, but he made no public statements on those subjects while they were in the legislative mill.

He believed that, although tradition made him titular leader of his party after 1944, Congress would resent his active advocacy of this or that legislative proposal.

The fact that the headquarters of the national committee are being continued in Washington, with Herbert Brownell, jr., on active duty there, indicates close liaison between the candidates and Republican congressional leaders.

Just as in the campaign for the nomination there were three strong and experienced Dewey men covering the bases, so it will be in the campaign to come. But any suggestion that the campaign will be a Dewey solo affair will be avoided by the presence of Hugh D. Scott jr., the national chairman. As a member of Congress, Scott can well prevent any outbreak of division among Republican leaders.

* * *

Expect Short Campaign.

DEWEY's rather aloof strategy will enable him to offer a broad program for the next Congress, which will be elected with him. In light of the Dewey record, it may be assumed that his program will move well beyond that which was adopted by the present Congress.

On many matters of domestic policy Dewey looks well beyond the more conservative Republicans in the Senate and House. There is reason to believe that he would, if he had the responsibility, go far beyond this Congress in enacting Truman's inflation program.

He is likely to join with Taft on housing, medical and other welfare measures. He will support some increase in minimum wages. And he will oppose the activities of many special lobbies which have been busy in Washington in 1947 and 1948.

The chances are that Dewey will try to make the speaking campaign short. He has behind him a New York tradition of a short and sharp appeal to the public, established by the late Governor Al Smith. Things will surely not warm up before mid-September or possibly later.

The great advantage which Dewey holds because of his probable election makes this not only a possible but a safer course. His problem is to hold his present advantage. A long campaign, too much talk, too many press releases invite the danger of mistakes, of tiring the electorate and of confusing his followers.

A carefully maintained liaison between Dewey and Warren is desirable. The vice-presidential candidate, more than in any other campaign in these times, is an important part of the ticket.

In addition, Warren is somewhat to the left of Dewey on many issues.

It would be sweet meat indeed for Democrats to discover conflicts in the speeches and statements of the Republican candidates. Such conflicts would not be intential but accidental. They can be avoided by close working relations.

It is not likely that Truman can seriously injure Dewey with his special session. It comes too early in the campaign. It is based on too flimsy and too political a justification. And Dewey can scarcely be held responsible for the matters about which Truman complains so bitterly.

The real battle will be waged in September and October, after Congress has concluded its work.

Washington Calling

Need For Guarded Talk

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WHAT this country has gained during the past 10 days may not at first be evident. But it is nevertheless a very real gain.

To understand how important it is one need only contrast the attitudes of two weeks ago as reflected in the headlines and the present attitude. The change in the temperature is striking.

Two weeks ago we were getting inspired stories out of Berlin and Frankfurt of the most sensational and alarmist nature. Plans were being considered to force an armored train through the blockade. There would be a showdown.

The sources of these inspired reports were never identified. Presumably they came from military policy-makers in Berlin whose patience had been worn down to the vanishing point in the long contest with Soviet stubbornness and hostility.

They also may have been inspired by certain trigger-happy generals in the air forces who sometimes talk altogether too freely about preventive wars.

Now the climate has changed. A meeting of top diplomats has been held in London to study a new approach to Moscow. Charles E. Bohlen, counsellor, represented our state department at that meeting. Reports from London make it plain that long and serious consideration was given to mapping out negotiations that would exhaust every possibility for peaceful settlement.

The gain is on the side of our moral position before the world. While the trigger-happy and the irresponsible seem hardly aware of it, that position has a value at least equal to the mightiest modern armament.

* * *

Advantage To Russia.

PROVOCATIVE talk from the United States was a priceless gift to the Soviet Union. It gave the Russians a tremendous advantage in the contest for western Europe. For the uneasy peoples who stand between the two Goliaths—the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R.—such talk could seem only to be the perilous folly that in reality it was.

The tremors that ran through Paris, the Hague, Brussels and even London were visible in spite of the deliberate restraint imposed. Pressure from these sources may well have had something to do with the developments of the past 10 days.

Whatever the actuality of their ruthlessness in power politics behind scenes, the Russians are intensely conscious of their position before the world. While the propaganda of simple assertion goes a certain distance, it cannot wholly ignore events. It would be of the first importance to the Russians to have some substance behind their cry that America was to blame if a conflict should come.

Now with the path opened for new negotiations agreed to by responsible policy-makers in Washington and London, the response of Moscow will be studied with breathless interest to see whether the Soviet really desires peace. That is as it should be.

In another and related part of the world the moral position of the United States is of vital concern. That is in Greece. News dispatches from Athens recently told of the possibility of a "service government," which means, in reality, dictatorship by a military man. That possibility was first foreshadowed in this column on the basis of reports on the worsening situation in Greece.

The suggestion of a "service government" in the event that the aged Premier Sophoulis resigns comes along with other dispatches telling of the continuing execution of communists, men and women, for aiding the guerrillas. Here is a situation that does not match with America's professed intentions in Greece.

Too often we fail to realize how concentrated is the gaze of people everywhere on our slightest act. They measure our slightest word. The nation that is the sole possessor of the atomic bomb cannot afford to be wrong before the court of world opinion.

Does This Reflect Trend?

At a recent Chicago meeting of the American Medical Association various programs for post-graduate education of doctors were outlined.

It is reported that "all speakers on this subject agreed that to get good attendance at scientific meetings you should wine and dine your membership."

The speakers on this subject must have been copiously wined, else they would have realized that Scotch whisky and porterhouse steaks are not the real source of inspiration of a good doctor in the improvement of his knowledge and technique for the benefit of his patients.

Let the doctor have his nip and a full stomach, but let us not admit that these are necessary items in the curriculum of his scientific training, either ante- or post-graduate. Some of the very best doctors we know do not drink, smoke, chew or swear.—Detroit News.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Truman and Congress Duel on Inflation

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

PRESIDENT TRUMAN threw down the gauntlet to Congress this week, daring them to pick it up. Face to face with the lawmakers whose record he has called "one of the worst in history," Mr. Truman spelled out his program for curbing inflation, relieving the housing shortage and raising the standard of living.

Republican leaders, after consulting with Gov. Dewey, the GOP presidential nominee, decided to take up only three of the President's 11 specific recommendations—anti-poll tax, anti-inflation and housing measures.

In a caustically worded statement, Republicans said Mr. Truman's call for the special session was "solely a political maneuver." They did not intend, they said, to open Pandora's box on legislative turkeys the New Deal had been unable to pass in the 14 years it ruled Washington.

In his special message, the President avoided the provocative, partisan attack which featured his acceptance speech at the Philadelphia convention but he made little effort to soothe ruffled feelings in either branch of Congress, irrespective of party.

Included in his 11-point message was the full civil rights program he first outlined last February which led to the southern revolt. If Mr. Truman's irate Dixie foes needed any fresh spur, they got it from two executive orders which instituted an FEPC for federal workers and an anti-discrimination drive in the armed forces.

A Stern Message.

It was a grim, fighting speech the President made. And it was received grimly in one of the coldest receptions ever accorded a chief executive. Republican majorities in both houses sat on their hands and southern Democrats conspicuously did not applaud.

"High prices are not taking time off for election," Mr. Thurman said. "High prices are not waiting until the next session of Congress."

Warning that world peace depends upon the strength of American economy at a time when communists are counting on its collapse, he demanded eight powers to combat the high cost of living. They included price controls, rationing, excess profits taxes, credit controls, banning of speculation on commodity exchanges, allocation of scarce materials, rent controls and standby power to freeze wages if they threaten to limit production or raise prices.

Not a New Program.

It was not a new program. Except for immediate, rather than standby, price controls, it did not differ greatly from the one he submitted to another special session last November 17.

Mr. Truman added one anti-inflation step this week—an excess profits tax.

The people rightfully look to Washington for "decisive action" in this time of stress, he concluded. "I hope the American people will not look to us in vain."

At Home

Sky's the Limit.

It doesn't take much, in an uneasy postwar world, to start people seeing things in the sky. A year ago it was flying saucers This year it's rocket ships, or meteors, or huge balls of fire.

The first report this year was by two Eastern Airlines pilots, each a fighter pilot during the war. They said they saw a huge, wingless, mystery plane, spouting fire, near Montgomery, Ala., on the Atlanta-Houston flight. It was doing 500 to 700 miles an hour, they said.

An Atlanta hunter stalking game in north Georgia reported "an unusually bright light—as a lighted room," at about the same time the Eastern Airlines pilots said they saw "it" over Alabama.

On the west coast, two Civil Aeronautics Administration observers kept their binoculars trained on "it" for hours and came up with the observation that "it" was neither a weather balloon nor an advertising blimp.

* * *

Churches March On.

Religion, despite the claim of cynics, is not losing its appeal for present-day Americans. Judging by church membership, Americans today are more than twice as religious as 50 years ago.

A nationwide poll by The Christian Herald reports U.S. church membership at an alltime high in 1947—77,386,188, or 53 per cent of the population. That is 3,713,006 more than in 1946.

In 1890, the magazine says, only 22 per cent of the population were church members.

The poll covered Protestants, Catholics and Jews.

The poll shows Protestant denominations gained 2.6 per cent from 1946 to 1947, while the Roman Catholics gained 3.5 per cent.

* * *

More and More Jets.

It was a week of international air power demonstrations. In Moscow, Russia unveiled several new jet fighters and bombers. British jets engaged in large scale maneuvers over the south of England. A British jet transport zipped 213 miles from London to Paris in 34 minutes 7 seconds, a new record.

At New York, the U.S. Air Force flashed the speed and power of its new planes at the International Air Exposition opening the big new International Airport. A flight of 750 fighters and bombers, led by jets, raced over the field at 500 feet. Three B-29s took off for a non-stop flight to Los Angeles and back.

Earlier in the week, the Air Force took the wraps off its first two-place trainer for the Shooting Star jet fighter and a new six-jet bomber.

Abroad

Key City of Berlin.

Berlin, the four-power capital deep within the Soviet zone, continues as the arena of east-west conflict. Russia urged, then threatened the western powers to get out.

The Soviet land blockade forced Britain and the United States into an unprecedented air supply system.

As tension mounted, Britain, France and the U.S. demanded that Moscow lift the Berlin blockage. The Kremlin flatly rejected the protests, hinted that the blockade would be lifted only if negotiations were reopened on the whole German question. The west retorted it would not confer under any threat of coercion; the blockade must be lifted first.

President Truman brought home Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, American commander in Germany, and his diplomatic aid, Ambassador Robert Murphy, for White House conferences.

France Tries Again.

Andre Marie, 50, a lawyer and a wartime resistance leader, heads the ninth new government France has had in the last three years. His new cabinet, like its predecessor, contains no communists. It is made up of parties that favor the cause of the western Allies.

Marie, who first became a member of the French parliament in 1928, is a leader of the Radical Socialists, actually a moderate centrist party. It was the dominant party in the prewar Third Republic. Now it is one of the smallest in the Fourth Republic, controling only 43 of the national assembly's 619 seatts.

Marie was imprisoned by the nazis in Buchenwald concentration camp from 1943 to 1945. He has been in ill health ever since.

Quotes

Gov. Dewey, Republican nominee for President: "In Berlin we must not surrender our rights under duress."

Henry A. Wallace, Progressive party nominee for President: "If I were President, there would be no crisis in Berlin today."

President Truman, Democratic nominee for President: "Communists, here and abroad, do not believe we can—or will—put the brake on high prices. They are counting on economic collapse in this country.

What Will You See?

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SO YOU'RE off on a vacation—? For weeks you've planned it. The house is full of the gear and gadgets you're going to take. You talk about it day and night, telling the neighbors the wonders you're going to see.

And what do you suppose you'll see? When the last city street is behind you and you're out on the open road, what will you find?

You'll see just what you expected to see.

You'll find whatever you've stored in your heart to find.

For vacations aren't just a cessation of work. They are an audit of ourselves and of all that we have loved in life and all we wanted.

What will you see ahead?

You'll see the beauty and wonder, the marvel and delight you've always expected to find. You'll see kindness in strange faces and friendliness everywhere: gay little gardens where once there was desert and stars that hang so low you could cup them in your hands.

And willing ones to guide.
And pals to walk beside you—
If that's what you've expected to find.
You'll see vast, snow tipped mountains—
And rushing silver rivers—
And smell the pines at midnight—
And the fragrance of bacon at dawn—
And hear the quail calling—
And see the great fish leaping—
If that's what you wish to see.

For we carry our long trail with us, hidden deep in our hearts. And we see only what we've stored there during all the days of our dreams.

Sunshine or wood road mystery, friendliness or fear, rainbows or scowling faces, we carry them up and down all through the days of our vacation, waiting in our hearts.

Study of Quail Family

By CALVIN A. BYERS

A FAMILY of quail lives in our wheat field, near the border of the lawn. Each evening at near twilight, we hear the mother bird's plaintive "Whi-i-te," as she calls her brood together for the night.

I stood awhile, one day at near noon, in the shelter of a dense honeysuckle shrub, near where her voice had marked the spot, in hope of getting a close view of the little home. Pretty soon, very casually, she moved before her doorway beneath a mat of hail-driven undergrowth, opened her stubby beak and called vociferously. Then she stepped aside, opening a little passage between two stalks of sweet clover, and out tripped a dozen little active feathered folk not much bigger than queen bumblebees.

For a moment they swarmed and darted through the grass, then perhaps I moved a little. Immediately a warning cluck brought quiet. Each hatchling squatted where he was and remained immobile, entirely camoflaged by the dry grass and leaves.

I tried to see them but could not, so I stepped nearer to investigate the nest beneath the tuft of wheat straw. With a sudden whir, the whole bevy flew away, landing down the field, and running into cover.

The opening in the grass was barely large enough for the mother quail to squeeze through. The little dome sheltered it from rain, and weather, tight, snug and restful . . . a house not made with hands, so close against the earth that at harvest time the combine would skim above it. The empty eggshells vacated by the hatchlings were neatly set in order, with the pointed end set back inside the larger half, like a small bowl inside a larger one.

As soon as their down is dry, the little ones leave the nest, running swiftly unless startled. At night they assemble in a wheel-shaped formation, tails toward the hub.

A neat pile of droppings and a circle of trampled grass shows their resting place to any observant passerby, the next morning. In winter they often seek the shelter of a friendly strawstack and feed with a farmer's livestock.

Life on Honey Creek would not be the same without the modest tuneful plaint of these feathered helpers. They devour hard-shelled potato bugs, green worms, plant lice and larvae—and if they eat a few grains of wheat to balance the ration, they're certainly welcome.

Milk Price to Go Up 2 Cents Sunday

Dairies Cite Cut In Supply

Producer Sees Damaging Trend

Mansfielders will begin paying a record 22 cents a quart for milk tomorrow.

Following the lead of Cleveland and other large northern Ohio cities, Mansfield dairymen today announced a two-cent increase, effective Sunday. Homogenized milk will be 23 cents a quart after the increase is in effect.

The announcement was made by Dale Dohner, president of the Northcentral Ohio Co-op Dairy Sales association which serves Mansfield dairies.

Dohner said the price is going up "because there just isn't enough milk to go around. "We're consuming more milk than ever before, "but I feel that we're pricing ourselves right out of business. And I'm not anxious to see that."

If the American people would use less milk, the supply would be greater, there would not be so much competition and prices would at least remain level, Dohner said.

Dealers from Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus and as far away as New York are scouring the dairy farmers in the northcentral Ohio areas, buying milk and they offer higher prices, he said. In order for local dairies to compete with these out-of-town dealers, they must hike their milk prices to meet those maintained in the bigger cities, he added.

HERDS REDUCED

Farmers have culled their herds during recent years because of the high meat prices, cutting the supply of milk producing cows, said Ruhland Isaly, treasurer and general manager of the Isaly Dairy company.

While the consumer will pay 10 per cent more for milk, the producer gets 14 per cent more, leaving the dealer, with a loss rather than a profit, Isaly said.

Although summer is the time of green pastures when milk production is expected to go up, the peak was reached about June 7, Isaly added.

Richland county isn't so bad off because we have had more rainfall here than in many places, but production has fallen off a little, Isaly explained.

A similar price boost, effective Sunday, was announced today by Ashland dairies.

Two Injured In Traffic Accidents

Driver Fined $10 Following Crash

Two Mansfielders were injured in two traffic accidents last night.

Betty Speck, 18, of 71 Penn avenue, suffered severe head lacerations and body bruises when a car in which she was riding figured in a crash with a car driven by Russell Brown, Amherst, O., at Park avenue east and Hedges street at 8:30 p. m., police said.

Donald Speck, 71 Penn avenue, who was driving the car in which she was riding, told police he was traveling east on Park avenue east and at Hedges street Brown, headed in the opposite direction, made a left turn, causing the collision.

Brown pleaded guilty in municipal court to a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way and was fined $10 and costs.

An hour before the Speck accident, Robert W. Elliott, 47, of 121 East Dickson avenue, suffered face and body bruises when his car struck a house at 77 North Willis avenue. He told police he was traveling east on East Dickson avenue and made a turn into Willis avenue, but failed to straighten out and hit the house owned by J. E. Willis, 81 North Willis avenue.

Elliott was arraigned in municipal court on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. He pleaded innocent and the hearing was set for Aug. 7.

'Pike' Urged By Winter

COLUMBUS—(UP)—State Sen. Ralph A. Winter, (R-Lodi), said today he would ask for an Ohio high-speed turnpike toll road at the next legislative session.

Winter said the proposed highway would extend from East Liverpool west 239 miles to a point south of Toledo.

Winter, who discussed the proposed turnpike at a meeting of the Ohio turnpike committee here yesterday, said the initial $158,000,000 cost of construction and purchase of right of ways would be financed by revenue bonds issued by the state. The bonds would be redeemed by toll charges, Winter added.

The bill proposed a toll of nine-tenths of a cent a mile for passenger cars and $2.50 to $10 for trucks and commercial vehicles.

A five man commission would administer the highway with the state highway department determining the exact turnpike route.

Sen. Winter's streamlined bill resembles in content his earlier 30-page senate bill which the house rejected at the last regular session.

Dedication Links Rivals

NEW YORK — (AP) — Under a canopy of the nation's air might, President Truman and his Republican rival for the presidency, Gov. Thomas E Dewey, joined today in opening the world's largest airport.

In doing so, they write a new page in modern American political history.

The occasion is the President's formal dedication of the huge New York International airport at Idlewild, Queens, and an aerial pageant billed as the nation's mightiest peacetime airshow.

The show is being witnessed by an estimated 100,000 spectators, members of the President's cabinet, a large congressional delegation and representatives of 30 foreign nations.

The history-making get-together between Mr. Truman and Gov. Dewey was the first time on record that presidential candidates of the two major parties have met publicly and made speeches on the same program during a campaign.

To fit the occasion, both arrived by air.

City Income Tax Urged

Ashland Council To Review Plan

ASHLAND — A city income tax of one per cent, with a $1,000 exemption, will be put to the vote of Ashland residents in November if city council acts on Friday night's recommendation of the Ashland Citizen's committee.

Appointed by Mayor Louis E. Mansfield at council's request to help ferret out new sources of revenue for city improvements, the committee, at its third meeting last night, put into detailed form its income tax recommendation initiated at a previous meeting.

Headed by the mayor, the committee of 16 representative Ashland citizens, accepted the report of the city engineer on badly needed city improvements. The committee then agreed to recommend that council draw up income tax legislation to be placed on the ballot in November.

The committee recommended that the tax be specified at one per cent, with exemption of $1,000, and that the tax be effective for a period of not exceeding five years. All funds received are to be used for public improvements only, none for operating expenses of the city.

Prior to its action on the income tax, the committee received a report from City Finance Director Tom Withers estimating Ashland's approximate total income.

Alfred Krupp Found Guilty

NUERNBERG — (UP) — Alfred Krupp, head of the giant Krupp munitions combine, and five other Krupp executives were found guilty today of plundering French and Dutch factories in the wake of conquering Nazi armies.

Thieves On Probation

Two youths, accused as operators of a "small time" bicycle theft ring, confessed today in juvenile court. The case of a third youth, 17, accused of accepting part of the stolen property, was continued for further investigation.

The first two, 14 and 16 years old, were apprehended Wednesday in Wadsworth where they had gone on the motor bicycles.

The 16-year was put on probation to his mother. He was ordered to get a job, stay off the streets at night, and report to the court next Saturday if he obtains a job. He had not been in any other trouble recently, the court said.

The 14-year-old was released to relatives with whom he is staying here. They were to arrange to have him join his parents in West Virginia. He was warned that further misbehavior would result in his being sent to the Boys' Industrial school.

The case of the 17-year-old was continued since he denied he had accepted some of the parts as alleged by the others.

150 Given Diplomas

One hundred and 50 Mansfield school children were given their diplomas in swimming yesterday afternoon by the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross, Gerald Coron, water safety director, said today.

"That means that 150 of the beginners' classes have actually learned to swim," Coron said. "In addition there are about 200 who are able to propel themselves for short distances as swimmers but who cannot dive. Then, there are about 50 children who have lost their fear of water and have learned to duck their heads and float.

"These 50 have been as thrilled about their achievements as the 150 who learned to swim," Coron said. "It means for the 50 a personal victory, something never before achieved in the water."

The 250 who were not given certificates will have the chance to continue with their swimming lessons on Aug. 10, Coron said. On that date at 10 a. m. at Liberty park pool, a new beginners' class will be formed. Already there are 100 applications for this class.

"However, in this second series of lessons for the summer," Coron said, "we want to concentrate on the children between two and four years old. We'd like to get a class for that age. We're also going to concentrate on the adult beginners and life-saving We'd like to put the most emphasis for this second term on these groups."

Children who have not quite learned to swim but who are attending Hidden Hollow camp for this summer will have a chance to increase their water prowess, Coron said.

Government Will Conduct Coal Survey

War Revealed Coke Shortage

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The government today announced a nationwide search to find out how much coal this country has in the ground for iron and steel production in an emergency.

A shortage of coking coal developed during World War II. The Bureau of Mines said today this shortage "has become more acute with the record level of peacetime steel production."

The bureau said the search for coal will begin in sections of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama. Eventually it will extend to every coal producing state and to Alaska, the bureau said.

Congress appropriated $450,000 for coal research this fiscal year. Some of the money will be used in the search and some will be used to find methods of converting low grade coals into coking coal.

Bureau Director James Boyd said "no reliable and comprehensive estimate" of coking coal reserves now exists. He said the bureau will gather information from private, state and federal sources.

In Alaska the bureau will expand drilling in a large bituminous deposit in the Wishbone Hill area in the Matanuska valley. It also will examine areas on the Kenai peninsula near Homer and other "promising" localities.

Indicted Red Surrenders

CHICAGO —(INS)— Gil Green, 41, chairman of the Communist party of Illinois, indicted last week in New York with other top party leaders, surrendered to federal authorities in Chicago Friday

With Green was his attorney, Max R. Naiman, and Mrs Eleanor Salkind, executive secretary of the civil rights congress.

Mrs. Salkind said the civil rights group would furnish bond for Green, who will be arraigned and then released on bond for appearance in New York.

Green issued a long statement declaring that the charges against him and the other Communist leaders were trumped up by the Truman administration, which, he charged, "hopes to salvage its dwindling fortunes with a fresh attack on Communists."

He denied that the Communist party advocated force and violence, as the government indictments charged.

Hospital Patient 'X' Enters His 2,002nd Day In Coma

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Patient "X," a former electrical engineer, entered his 2,002nd day in total coma at Bethesda hospital today.

The period of unconsciousness is the longest known in medical history, according to physicians in charge of the case

The man was 50 years old when he was struck on the head by a pulley on Feb 5, 1943, while working on the construction of the Wright Aeronautical corporation in Lockland, a part of greater Cincinnati, the doctors said

His physicians, who asked that their names and that of the patient not be disclosed, said patient "X" was struck at the right, frontal region of his head, cutting his right eyebrow.

"Although conscious at the time he arrived at the hospital, patient X rapidly lost consciousness shortly afterward because of a blood clot between his skull and the outer envelope of his brain," one of the doctors stated.

"The clot accumulated so rapidly that before it was possible to evacuate it there had occurred circulatory changes at the brain stem (the central portion of the brain), which release the centers in the brain that activate standing

"So the patient became rigid At the same time, associated changes in circulation occurred which produced profound changes in the patient's level of consciousness Consequently, he now exists at a low order of nervous activity without obvious mentation'

The blood clot was removed through a delicate operation shortly after he entered the hospital, the physicians said

However they added, the highly specialized brain cells which the clot was touching already had been destroyed

Patient "X" is "unusually healthy," according to the physicians. He is tube fed through the nose, where all internal medicines also are given, they added

His hair continues to grow, periodically requiring a barber and a shave. He has aged little, his finger and toenails grow normally and his teeth are good, the doctors said.

Sometimes he snores and makes groaning sounds, although there is no indication of pain, it was stated His eyes will follow objects but when the doctors have asked him to blink them or move a finger if he knows they talk to him, he shows no signs of comprehension they added

He has survived two attacks of pneumonia, according to the physicians

Three nurses are in around-the-clock attendance.

Patient "X" is an industrial case and, according to statements made here, has cost the Industrial Commission of Ohio $63,026 42 to date

He has a wife and two sons.

First Atomic Potato Field Under Test By Scientists

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Editor)

BROOKHAVEN, N. Y.—(AP)—A shortcut to better potato crops is being sought in the first atomic potato field which now is growing here at the Brookhaven National laboratory of the Atomic Energy commission.

The potatoes were planted this spring by a group of geneticists headed by Dr. Harold H. Sparrow in the biology department at Brookhaven, under Dr. L. F. Nims, and their progress was reported today.

Before planting, the potatoes were given varying doses of X-rays. The rays hit the potato eyes from which new potato plants sprout.

The X-rays began with a dose about as strong as is given to human beings, and step by step this dose was increased until it was hundreds of times stronger. Each dose was given to a separate batch of potato eyes.

Then they were planted. In all cases the X-rays delayed the growth—the mild rays a little and the stronger rays more, up to the point where some plants did not grow.

The stronger the rays, the squattier the potato plant. Whether the squattiest plants will produce potatoes is not known yet. It is remotely possible that new potato varieties might spring by accident from the X-rays.

A search is made each day for one or more plants to see if bugs fail to eat them. This resistance to bugs and disease is something that occurs naturally in most crop plants, due to alterations in heredity.

Nature's heredity changes are very slow. The X-ray changes are fast.

This is the first time that atomic changes have been tried on vegetable plants — that is, plants which do not grow from seed. The experiment on Long Island potatoes is planned to run for 10 years or more, because the main object is to get new facts about heredity and about its application not only to crops but to biology and, perhaps, medicine.

As the work progresses potato eyes will be exposed to other forms of atomic rays, including the neutrons that will come from an atomic pile, or oven, now near completion here.

2 Championship Bouts Scheduled In Brooklyn Ring

NEW YORK—(INS)—A return match between champion Freddie Mills, of England, and Gus Lesnevich for the world light heavyweight championship was announced today by Promoter Andy Niederreiter.

The bout is tentatively set for Sept. 23, the scene to be Ebbets field, Brooklyn. It will be co-featured with a middleweight title fight between champion Tony Zale and Marcel Cerdan, European title holder.

Neiderreiter, promoter director for the Tournament of Champions, Inc., announced today that Mills and Lesnevich had been definitely obtained for an encore of their bout of last Monday.

The Britisher lifted the crown from the veteran American on a decision after 15 rounds.

Both of the title encounters will be staged for 15 rounds, but the light heavy tussle remains to be approved by the New York Boxing commission.

Favors Draft In Australia

CANBERRA—(U.P.)—Conscription in Australia to help Britain, the empire and the United States is strongly advocated by Maj. Gen. Clyde F. Steel, engineer-in-chief of the Australian military forces from 1942 to 1946.

"Australia was very lucky in the last war," he said, "in having United States' aid in saving this country, but it would be stupid if we merely relied on having an ally to save us the second time."

Steel added that he hoped an adequate professional army would be made available to share occupation responsibilities throughout

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Vanishing Tribe Brought Down By Sox, 8-7

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK — (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinal outfielder currently up in the slugging stratosphere as he shoots at the .400 mark, has a weakness after all. According to one player, Musial "slows down between second and third."

That's a criticism along the lines of the one Arky Vaughan delivered to Erv Palica, Dodger pitcher. Palica almost had his head torn off by a double which Musial slashed through the box.

"You didn't play him deep enough," Vaughan told the shaken pitcher.

BEN HOGAN, who has a great chance of copping the western open which is being staged at the moment, leads golf's money winners with $22,797 to date this year. In 55 rounds he has averaged 69.6 strokes and taken a total of 3,832 cuts at the ball. That's an average of $5.09 a shot — very nice work if you can get it.

And speaking of golf, Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis might well wish he could play the game a bit better. Some of the stories about his fairway losses are fantastic. The birdies which are taking those gold eggs from Louis are said to be one of the reasons why the champ plans an exhibition tour. A title bout with Gus Lesnevich fell through because of Gus' defeat by Freddie Mills—so the champ has to look somewhere else for ready money to stagger those divot debts.

TUESDAY night will be the "night of stars" at Philadelphia's Shibe park. Some of the old timers on hand will inclue Cy Young, Honus Wagner, Cy Williams, Otto Knabe, Hans Lobert, Harry Coveleskie, Bill Killifer, Jimmy Foxx, Howard Ehmke, Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw, Cy Perkins, Mike O'Neill, Huck Betts, Rube Walberg and Charley Gelbert . . . Think of what they would do, in their prime, for the competing Phils and Pirates of today.

Columbus, the home town of Ohio State university, long has laid claim to the title of the football capital of the United States. One of the reasons is that there never were enough seats for the spectators when the city closed shop on Saturday afternoons to see the Buckeyes perform More of the faithful get a break this season with 1,300 seats being added to raise the stadium capacity to 77,300—and try to get in even so.

HORSEMEN, maybe even more than the rest of us, are deeply superstitious. Some of the turf hoodoos are supposed to be the number 13, workouts on Sunday and piebalds and grays. One of the worst is having a horse with four white "stockings." A Devonshire rhyme goes:

"If you have a horse with four white legs, keep him not a day;
"If you have a horse with three white legs, send him far away,
"If you have a horse with two white legs, sell him to a friend;
"If you have a horse with one white leg, keep him to the end."

But a horse named Briar White is shaking that "gypsy curse" at Monmouth park. The Briar is a steady winner despite four "stockings" . . . Just "luck," the "bad luck" believers hold inconsistently

Cleveland Loses 4th To Boston

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Anyone mentioning the word "pennant" today to Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians had better be ready to duck and scram quick.

The Boston Red Sox crammed that word down Boudreau's throat for the fourth straight time last night by an 8-7 count, and the boy wonder is probably wishing he had kept his mouth closed.

It was scarcely a week ago that Manager Lou predicted his team would win the pennant over the Bosox because, he stated in essence, "we will beat them in their park and in our own"

The Bosox promptly knocked the Tribe off three times running in Boston Last night they started things all over again.

SEE-SAW BATTLE

In a see-saw battle down at the Cleveland stadium, the Sox first scored three runs, gave up six to the Tribe and then came from behind to tie it up and waltz off with the win.

Things looked bad from the start for Cleveland The Bosox jumped to their three-run lead in the first inning, due mainly to Bobby Doerr's 20th home run of the season with one mate aboard.

Cleveland jumped right back with six runs in the last half of the first, however. Larry Doby, leading off, bled a single to deep shortstop, Allie Clark got another one-baser, and Dale Mitchell was safe on an error to fill the bases. Doby came home as Boudreau strolled to first Clark scored when Joe Gordon forced Mitchel at third, and Keltner followed with a double scoring Boudreau. Eddie Robinson's single sent Gordon scampering for home, Jim Hegan walked, and two more runs came across when starting pitcher Gene Bearden dropped a single into centerfield.

ONE IN SECOND

The Red Sox counted once in the second, but Cleveland matched that in the third when Keltner walked, went to third on Robinson's double and finally scored on a walk and Clark's single to right.

The Sox got two in the fourth, however, tied it up in the sixth, and cinched the victory with three singles off old Satchel Paige in the eighth

Cleveland, meanwhile, after the third inning could solve the slants of relief hurler Denny Galehouse for nary a blow.

Jimmy Regula Wins Another Out of Turn

TIFFIN—Manager Nick Weber of the Mansfield Gorman-Rupp pulled a "fast one" on the Tiffin Packers here last night, throwing Jim "Stretch" Regula the second straight game to beat Tiffin, 5-3.

Stretch, who supposedly has a sore arm, pitched a no-hit game Wednesday and came back last night to work out of turn. He allowed seven hits but had unusually fine control and did not issue a single pass

GET ONLY FIVE

Gorman-Rupp collected only five hits but took advantage of three Tiffin errors and the same number of free passes

It was the 14th league victory against 2 defeats for the Mansfielders Tonight they will go against their arch-rivals, the Ashland Indians, at Brookside park, Ashland The contest, a postponed league game, will mark the fifth meeting of the two teams this year. Ashland has won two exhibition games and Gorman-Rupp the two previous league contests

Tonight's game is scheduled to get under way at 8 p m.

1948 Migratory Waterfowl Regulations Are Released

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The interior department today announced migratory waterfowl hunting regulations for 1948 allowing hunters in Ohio and Kentucky bag limits for four ducks a day—the same as last year.

The regulations, signed by President Truman, also allow Ohio and Kentucky hunters to have eight ducks in possession, the same as in 1947.

The department also offered Ohio and Kentucky a choice of a continuous 30-day season or split seasons of 12 days each.

Shooting hours in all states were changed so that hunters may take geese, ducks, brant, coot, rails and gallinules from one-half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset. Woodcock, mourning or turtle doves, white-winged doves and band-tailed pigeons, with certain exceptions, may be shot from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

GEESE LIMIT

The daily bag and possession limit on geese in Ohio and Kentucky was set at four. The bag and possession limit on coots was reduced from 25 to 15 birds a day, and the open season on rails was cut to 60 days The bag limit on sora was cut from 25 to 20.

The department also strengthened its rules on the use of guns. A hunter must use a shotgun that has to be disassembled in order to remove each plug, and automatic-loading or repeating shotguns must not hold more than three shells

Open season by states included:

Kentucky: Ducks, geese and coot Dec. 10-Jan 8; rails and gallinules, mourning or turtle doves Sept. 1-Oct. 30, no wodocock.

Ohio. Ducks geese and coot Oct. 29-Nov 27 except on the Pymatuning reservoir in Ashtabula county, and one-quarter mile in any direction from the reservoir, where season is Oct 15-Nov. 13; rail and gallinules Sept. 1-Oct 30; woodcock Oct. 8-Nov. 6; no doves.

Indiana—Ducks, geese and coot, Oct. 29-Nov. 27, rails and gallinules Sept. 1-Oct 30; woodcock, Oct. 16-Nov. 14; no doves.

Michigan — Ducks, geese and coot, Oct. 15-Nov. 13; rails and gallinules, Sept. 1-Oct. 30; woodcock in upper peninsula, Oct. 1-20; all lower peninsula, Oct 15-Nov. 3; no doves.

Driving Range Pro Leads In Western Open Golf Meet

BUFFALO N. Y—(AP)—The wind the rain and the law of averages catch up with golfdom's greatest occasionally and it's that way today in the 45th Western open

Mike Parco a driving range pro from Buffalo, leads the field at the halfway mark with a 136 total But the panting breath of bantam Ben Hogan, the National open and PGA champ from Hershey, Pa is hot on his neck

The 33-year-old Parco playing his first tournament in 10 years, came through with a 67 yesterday over the wind and rain-swept 6,663 yards of Brookfield Country club's par-72 layout. He had a 69 opening day

Hogan added a 70 yesterday to his first round 67, for a 36-hole total of 137 Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C, who led the first day by equalling the course record of 66, skittered off to a 77 but still was well within the top 60 and ties eligible for the last two rounds today and tomorrow

Kirk Repeats

TOLEDO—(AP)—Peggy Kirk of Findlay, the 1948 Ohio women's golf champion, added the Toledo women's district title to her string of championships yesterday. She easily defended her district crown with a 10 and 9 conquest of Mrs. John Horgan, a former state and district champion.

Wet Grounds Postpones Major Game

The Sons of Herman—Knights of Columbus game in the Hot Stove Major league scheduled for Liberty park yesterday, was postponed because of wet grounds. It was the only Major game on the day's slate.

The Eagles trampled Mitsch's Corner Store, 17-0, and Police defeated the Moose, 9-0, in Junior games. Ronnie Williams of the Police and Howell of the Eagles pitched one-hit shutouts

In the Elementary league, St. Peter's won over Woodland, 15-6, Grubaugh trounced Bushnell, 13-5, and Bowman edged West Fifth, 8-7.

Yank Dynasty Skids After Long Reign

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK —(UP)— Are the champion Yankees through for this year and if so will they be better than a second division ball club next season?

All of the evidence would seem to point to the fact that the glory that so long went to them, now belongs elsewhere. And even if they should struggle through to the pennant this year, there is little reason to assume they have the replacements necessary to make them more than casual contenders for fourth or fifth place next summer.

The most condemning indictment against the 1948 Yankees is that they are not opportunists. Today they were in fourth place because they have dropped two out of three games on a crucial western road trip to the seventh place Browns and the last place White Sox.

Had they won all three, as they figured to do, they would have been in second place, less than a game out of the lead.

Last night the White Sox topped them, 8 to 7, even though Tommy Henrich hit his third grand slam homer of the year, and it was highly significant that after the Yankees had scored one run in a ninth inning rally, their big pro, Joe DiMaggio, hit into a game-ending double play.

Their big winner of the 1947 championship season, Allie Reynolds, was knocked out as a starter, and Joe Page, the best relief pitcher in the business a year ago, was equally ineffective. The Yankee lineup is full of question marks and like the St. Louis Cardinals, their counter-parts in the National league, the once-proud overlords of the pennant races seem to be wearing out.

No Report

The Recreation department had no report at deadline time today of the games played in the Club softball league yesterday.

All games were believed postponed because of wet grounds.

Americans Face Tough Time In Games; Swimmers Look Good, Dashmen Qualify

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Wembley, England —(AP)— The United States still may win the Olympic games track and field unofficial championship—but it won't be easy

The exuberant over-confidence of the past week faded today under the hard blows dealt in the high jump—an event America hoped to sweep, but got no better than a tie for third.

Even as the red, white and blue dropped, there began to emerge the possible great hero of the 1948 games. He is Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia, the strangest, strongest, wildest, most anguished distance runner ever seen.

SUFFERS TO RECORD

Suffering with every step, Zatopek won the 10,000 meters yesterday in 29:39.6, a new Olympic record. The commotion he set up helped screen the embarrassment of the American high jumpers who bowed to John Winter of Australia at the ingnominious heights of 6 feet 6 inches.

Here's how Americans fared in other sports on the first day of competition:

Swimming—Wally Ris of the University of Iowa equalled the 100 meter record of 57.5 in his preliminary heat. Keith Carter of Purdue defeated favored Alex Jany of France in a 57-6 heat but both qualified for today's final as did Alan Ford of Yale. After four compulsory dives, Bruce Harlan of Ohio, was first in springboard diving with Dr. Sammy Lee of Pasadena, Calif., second. Joaquin Capilla of Mexico was third and Miller Anderson, Ohio State fourth. Ann Curtis of San Francisco won her 100-meter free style heat and Brenda Helser of Los Angeles was third in hers. The American women breaststrokers were eliminated in the preliminaries.

Basketball—The United States overwhelmed Switzerland, 86-21.

Water polo—The U. S. blanked Uruguay, 7-0, in first round competition.

Fencing—The men's foils team reached the semi-finals by defeating Canada and Switzerland.

Pentathlon—Maj. G. B. Moore, of the U. S. Army, finished second to Capt. William Grut of Sweden in the 5,000 meter cross-country ride.

Wrestling—Four Americans won and two lost. Bantamweight Gerald Leeman, Cedar Falls, Ia., won with a fall. Flyweight William Jernigan, Tulsa, Okla; welterweight Leland G. Merrill, jr., Milltown, N. J., and light heavyweight Henry Wittenberg, New York, won on decisions which count one point against them. But Barney Ewell, Mel Patton, and Harrison Dillard all came through the first two rounds of 100 meter heats smoothly. And Roy Cochran, the scientific, rolling-hipped 400 meter hurdler from Indiana and now on the faculty of the University of Southern California, matched a new Olympic record in the semi-finals of his event at 51.9. That was the same time made by Rune Larsson of Sweden in winning the other semi-final. The old record was :52.0 made by Glenn Hardin of the U. S. in 1932.

Cincy Redlegs Blow Big Lead

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— The Cincinnati Reds broke into the scoring column yesterday and got five runs after being shut out in three straight games However they blew a four-run lead and ended on the short end of an 8-5 score against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Robin Roberts, the Phils' rookie righthander, scattered 10 hits and chalked up his fifth victory. Harry Gumbert, who came in after Ewell Blackwell and Ken Raffensberger retired, was charged for the loss.

Blackwell, the Redleg whip who already this season has missed one month's play because of a shoulder injury, hurt his shoulder again last night and was taken to a hospital. Dr. Wilbur Boehm, the team trainer, said he does not believe the injury is as serious as the one that previously sidelined Blackie.

100 Youngsters Could Have Won

By BILL CORUM

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — (INS)—Offhand, I'd say I could rustle up 100 young Americans who could top the winning high jump by that Australian, J. L. Winter, in the opening fuss of the Olympic games.

A couple of New York boys, Bill Vessie, who stayed home, and Irving Mondschein, who stood by helplessly and watched his teammates take a beating at a height that's picnic jumping for him, must have gotten an awful chill.

'World's Greatest Pitcher' Allows One Run for Giants

By LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK—(INS)—Sheldon (Available) Jones, cocky rookie pitcher of the New York Giants, was a downhearted young man today, despite his 9 to 1 victory over the Chicago Cubs last night.

The Giants had not been scored upon in 38 innings. Three pitchers had turned in consecutive shutouts, so last night the issue was squarely up to Jones, who frankly admits he is the world's greatest pitcher.

Jonesey bore down all the way and would have made it four straight shutouts except for an unfortunate accident in the ninth inning. Two substitutes, Jack Conway and Les Layton, collided while chasing an easy fly. A run came in and Jonesey was robbed of his shutout with only one putout to go.

GAIN ON BUMS

The third-place Giants are only half a game behind Brooklyn and but six games astern of the Boston Braves, National league leaders, who were stopped 6 to 2 by Harry Brecheen of the St. Louis Cardinals. The cat had a no-hitter until the seventh inning.

Four home runs gave Pittsburgh a 10 to 5 decision over Brooklyn. Wally Westlake of the Bucs hit for the cycle—a homer, triple, double and single Ralph Branca was the victim.

Andy Seminick, who has walloped six circuit clouts in five days, hit two homers to give the Phillies an 8 to 5 win over the Reds. Ewell Blackwell, ace righthander of the Reds, suffered a recurrence of his shoulder injury and was removed to a hospital after the second inning.

PAIGE LOSES

In the American league, the pace-setting Boston Red Sox drew in the clear as all three of their closest pursuers lost. The Sox personally took care of Cleveland, 8 to 7. Satchmo Paige, Negro star of the Indians, was nicked for the winning run on three singles in the seventh.

The New York Yankees lost to the tail-end Chicago White Sox, 8 to 7, despite a grand-slam homer by Tommy Henrich.

Detroit's Tigers made each of their 17 hits good for a run as they clawed the Philadelphia Athletics, 17 to 2

Three walks, forcing in a run in the ninth inning, gave Washington a 3 to 2 win over the St. Louis Browns.

All eight contests were night games.

Four Golfers Tied for Top At Westbrook

Four golfers tied for low medal in the Westbrook league last night.

The quartet missed par by one stroke. Tied for the top were: Carl Wiseman, club champion, Bill Black, Al Hager and Bob Moorhead. Dale Rose and M. D. Ward jr. were only a stroke back. Vic Salter was next in line with a 40.

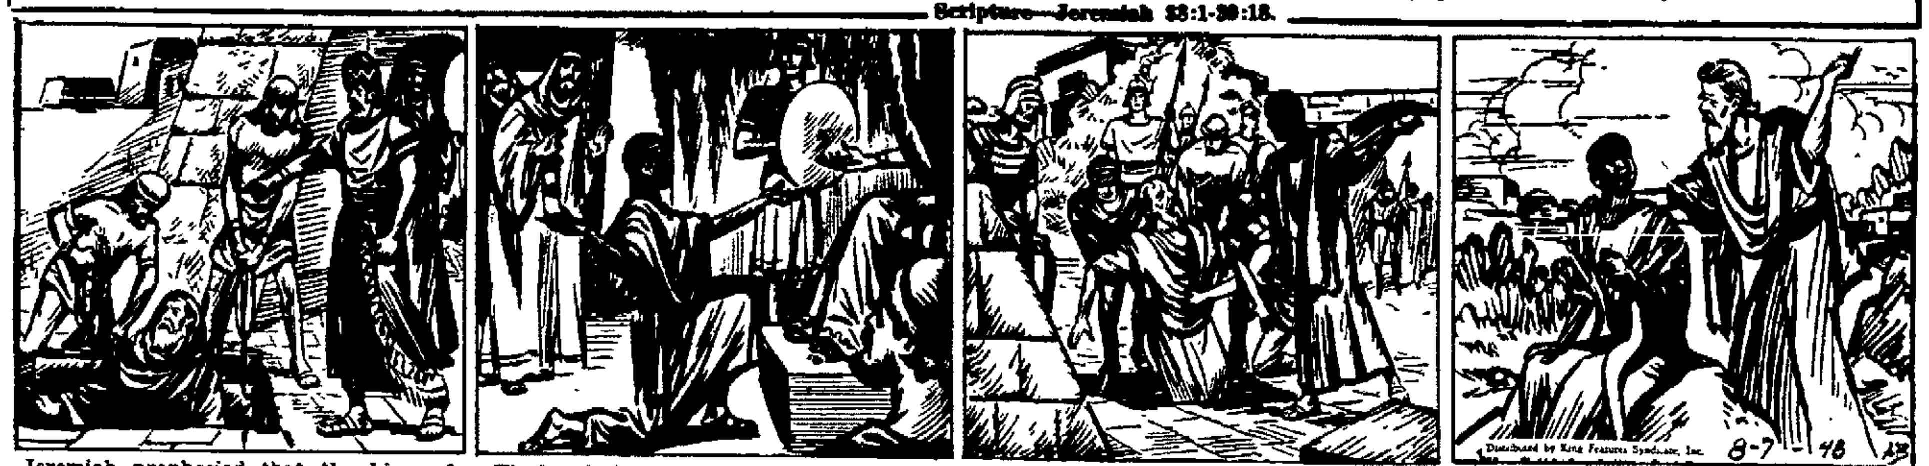
Ebed-Melech, the Ethiopian — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Jeremiah 38:1-39:18.



Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

AB

Jeremiah prophesied that the king of Babylonia would conquer Jerusalem, and that those who remained in the city would be slaughtered, but those who surrendered would live, so King Zedekiah let his enemies throw him into a filthy well to die.

Ebed-melech, the king's Ethiopian eunuch, went to the king and pleaded with him to take Jeremiah out of the well where he surely would die, and the king listened and told Ebed-melech to take thirty men with him and pull Jeremiah out.

Ebed-melech took cast-off garments and rags, attached ropes to them, let them down into the well and he and his men drew Jeremiah out and thereafter the prophet was a prisoner in the court of the prison until all were taken to Babylon.

After the Babylonian king, Nebuchadnezzar, had sacked the city, killed many and taken the rest prisoner, Jeremiah went to Ebed-melech and told him that his life was saved by the Lord because of his good deed.

.MEMORY VERSE—Galatians 6:10.
